Embarking

Setting out
Thinking things
you never thought before
Decisions to make
Wondering
whether you should have come Waiting to stand in line to do things you never did
Preparing for the frustration
Leaving home
Too late to turn back
.....WHAT NOW??

Being

In muddy shoes
 Not 29483 but yourself, an element of B.C.C.
 Brothers and sisters sharing the rights, responsibilities,
 and the unity
 Falling into the routine
 Supporting the team when it counts
 Feeling the intimacy of home
 with a hundred others
 Knowing how to spend an extra afternoon
 Standing alone in the middle of the crowd
 Accepting the things that can not be changed while you are changing . . . . . WHAT NOW??

Reaching

For a goal
 Being versed in your field
 Cramming for a big test that you knew was coming
 To find out if the answers
 are really there
 Catching up with exams
 Writing 500 words by class
 tomorrow
 Following your interests
 Squeezing in all the courses
 for a major
 Finishing a lab
 Studying till your eyes ache
 Will it ever end . . . WHAT NOW??

Deciding

To stay or to leave
Where to go
To support peace or war
A home, the coveted career
of any woman
To be a success defined or just bum around
You are out
Have you reached your goal or are you just a little closer to it
You've been tested in every way
It's over . . . . . WHAT NOW??

The first week for rats was the last

The beginning and the end of Rat Week characterized the week that started on the second of September. Freshmen went through the official wearing of the hats and usual harassments of a "rat". An experience designed to give the freshman an easy way to make friends and to feel a part of the school is no longer a tradition.

During the first week of school, the freshman took part in many activities to help know each other and the administration and faculty. One of these events was the reception for freshmen at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Hamrick. This gave each student a chance to meet the president and talk to him on a less formal level.

The Association performs for capacity crowd

Using the facilities of the Municipal Auditorium for the first time, the Student Government Association of the Baptist College opened their 1970-1971 concert season. Appearing for this concert were the ever-popular "The Association".

September twelfth brought out many students from the Baptist College as well as others from the Charleston community to hear such favorites as "Along Comes Mary", "Cherish", "Windy", and "Never My Love".

Trinidad Steel Band entertains with drums

Baptist College students have attended many SGA concerts but never one as unbelievable as the Trinidad Steel Band concert on September twenty-ninth. The music that filled the Municipal Auditorium came from metal cans and barrels. The group consisted of twenty-two members from Trinidad whose native calypso also entertained the audience.

Parlor receives furnishings

The girls' dorm was honored by the dedication of Littlejohn Parlor. Mr. Broadus Richard Littlejohn, Jr., now on the board of trustees, donated the money for furnishings in honor of his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Hicks Littlejohn. The parlor is furnished in modern contemporary. Also included is a painting of Mrs. Littlejohn, done by Miss DeViolette Bernhardt. The ceremony included music by David Wells, also from Spartanburg. In addition to its dating purposes, the parlor was also used for faculty drop-ins.

Dedication cites statesman's achievements

In spite of threatening clouds and distances of many miles, people came from everywhere to attend the dedication of the L. Mendel Rivers Library at the Baptist College. Among such dignitaries were various U. S. and State government officials, along with military leaders and personnel. Administrative and faculty members played their part in the ceremony.

Providing music in addition to the choir and band was Mr. Al Hirt playing his version of "The Star Spangled Banner" on his trumpet.

The speaker for the occasion was Reverend Billy Graham. His message brought inspiration to all, and commended the man to which it was dedicated.

L. Mendel Rivers, one of the most admired statesmen of his time, accepted the citation on the occasion of the dedication. The Baptist College is honored to have a building bearing the name of a man so well-known for his awareness and excitement in being an American".

Sponsored by GOP, the Miss Baptist College pageant depicted the contestants as captives of Blackbeard held for the purpose of choosing his new queen. Eleven clubs participated by nominating a representative.

Alpha Phi Omega's representative, Miss Mary Lu Hanes, captured the title as the evening drew to a close. Miss Lisa Bell, representing the Principal Brotherhood Association took first runner-up while second runner-up was Miss Madina Anderson, nominated by the Ministerial Alliance. Miss Kathy Jackson, sponsored by The Knights of Achilles, was chosen by the other contestants as Miss Congeniality.

Symbols play for Sadie Hawkins'

Girl catch boy filled the atmosphere on October thirty-first as the Sadie Hawkins dance took place. Playing for the dance held at the Exhibition Hall of the Municipal Auditorium were The Symbols of England. The Symbols have given a concert for Baptist College students three times. This was the first time they provided music for students to dance as well as listen to.

Three groups play for pop concert

November sixth brought three groups to Charleston to entertain at the third SGA sponsored concert of the year. The three hour pop concert began with Cool Heat. Steam then blasted out their sounds. Dennis Yost and the Classics Four ended up the third hour.

Candles, lights, and trees cover B.C.C.

On the campus of the Baptist College, the Christmas spirit truly did reign. Many of the clubs on campus did their part by placing decorations at the entrance, in various buildings, and rooms. Individuals in the dorm prepared for the season as they filled the halls and lobbies with decorations. As proof that the spirit of Christmas does continue, the Christmas tree, put up by the Baptist Student Union remained in place until mid-January.

Accreditation adds to festive mood of President's reception

Starting the Christmas season off right, Doctor and Mrs. John A. Hamrick hosted the Annual President's Christmas Reception in the dining hall on December third. Overflowing with beautiful dresses and coats and ties, the evening proved a tremendous success. The main topic of the evening seemed to be the receiving of accreditation for the Baptist College from the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools on December second. Many students, friends, and faculty members attended the festivities to take the first step into their holidays.

Christmas is a busy time in the mall

A very vital, but often unnoticed, part of the campus are the married students who live on campus. For the first time, the wives have formed an unofficial club in order that they might get to know each other better. Among the projects, these wives have taken up is helping test the eyes of the children at the Summerville Middle School. Various parties that they planned for themselves and their husbands at Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine's proved quite successful.

Interterm is successfully attempted

January 1971 brought Interterm to the Baptist College. Interterm was one month of the year set aside in which the student was encouraged to study in a field of his interest. Four hours credit was received for the course. Schedules and subjects of courses varied from jazz to chemistry. Overall, the courses were quite successful and a step toward more modernized education processes.

Dormitory living creates a sense of belonging

Dormitory life at the Baptist College draws those students who live on campus closer to each other. Developing a sense of security about coming home to a family of one hundred becomes a necessary part of the day. Easily accessible, such places as the library and the language lab, are privileges dorm students enjoy. Dorm life also brings the adjustments of eating in the cafeteria with the rest of the school and walking everywhere.

BCC campus is constantly active

Living or going to school on the Baptist College campus encourages each student to take a part in all of the activities. Voting in elections, having a coke in the canteen, and visiting student services becomes a vital part of each student's semester.

Twenty-three make Who's Who

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges is an organization set up to recognize the leaders on college campuses today. To qualify, students must excel in both academic and extra-curricular activities. They must be college juniors and seniors who are studying in a four year undergraduate program or a graduate school. Recommended by a committee from his particular school, the applicant must then submit certain biographical data. Upon approval, the applicant's data is transferred to the Student Placement Office, a division designed to provide the student with references and recommendations.

Cross Country places in Collegiate meet

Buddy Britt, senior, proved the top distance runner in S. C. during the state collegiate cross country meet at Furman. He turned the 5-mile course in 25 minutes, 35 seconds.

Finishing fourth was Clyde Goode, while Ken Layne finished third and fifth overall. Dave McInnis was 13th, Doug Parker 20th, Mike Embler 24th, and Steve Maurer 25th.

These three plays are only a small example of the effort put into the games by the eight teams that played for the championship title.

Retrieving the ball, Hal Russell carries it to the goal.

Preparing for the play, the Baptist College All-Stars prove their skills.

All-Stars beat Citadel 6-0

A fall day brings success to the Baptist College All-Stars.

Commencing in early October, intramural flag football encouraged competition between clubs and individuals. The program was open to any club, organization, or group of independent students, including both dorm and day students. The NKA social club won the championship.

Close scores encourage teamwork

In addition to Franz, others giving the Bucs a balanced scoring attack were Norris Townsend, Bo Jamison, Ernie Masters, and Jim Rooney, who hit 1000 during the game with UNC at Wilmington

Bucs slow to start

The Bucs' season started slow when they dropped their opening game to the College of Charleston, but that loss was avenged later when Baptist College defeated the same team to claim the championship of the BCC Tournament. Franz was named the Tourney's Most Valuable Player.

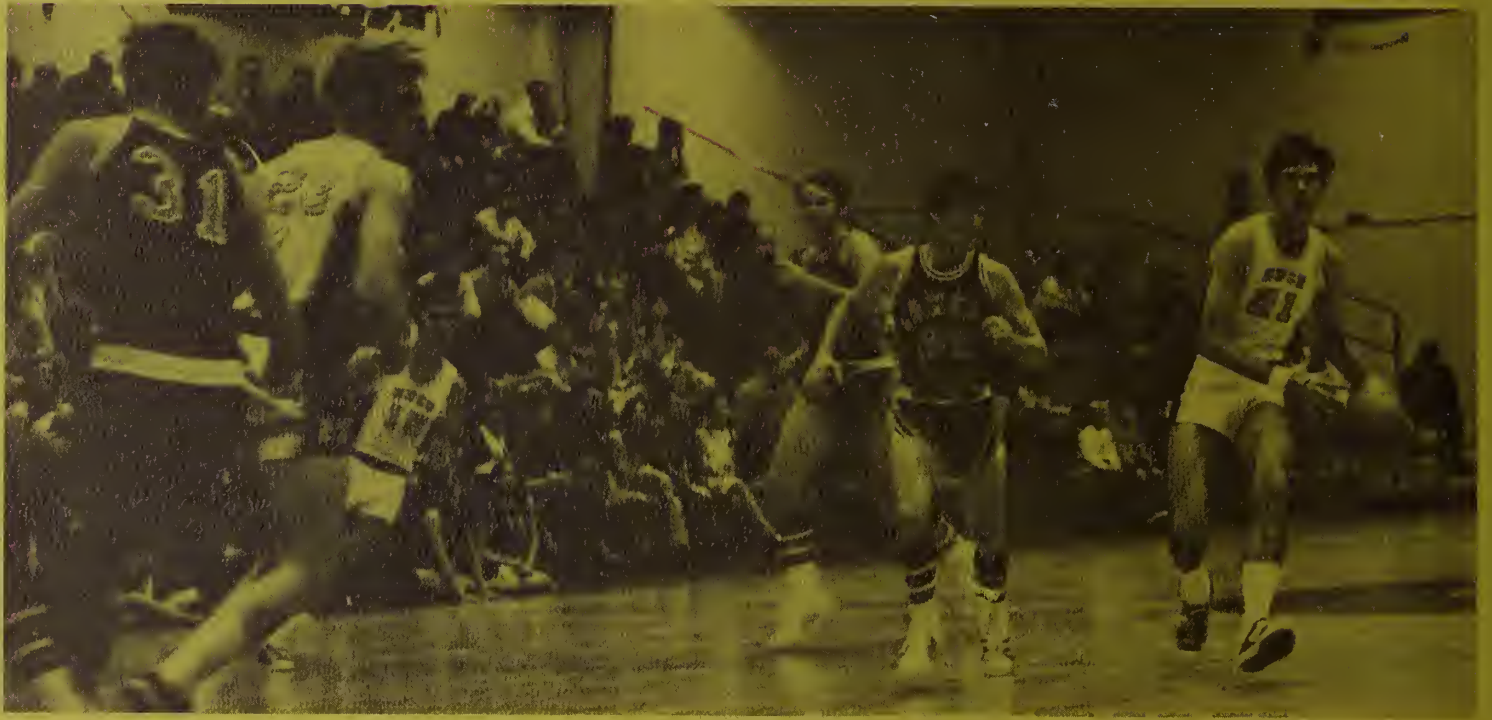

Although the holiday break left the Buccaneers with only a 2-3 record, they returned to start the new year off on the right foot by marking up five straight victories before their next setback.

Mr. Mel Gibson, Coach

Franz keys Buccaneers to success

The scoring and rebounding of Dan Franz led the Buccaneers to a 13-9 record through the season, and they appeared to be on course toward another winning season.

Franz paced the Bucs by becoming the school's first player ever to go over 1,000 in both points and rebounds, attaining both marks early in the season.

Baseball recruits new talents

Following its first winning season in baseball last spring, the Baptist College baseball team was shooting to make it two successful seasons in a row as they faced a demanding 24 game schedule for 1971.

To top last year's season, a number of freshmen had to perform like veterans after the loss of several key members of the 1970 squad.

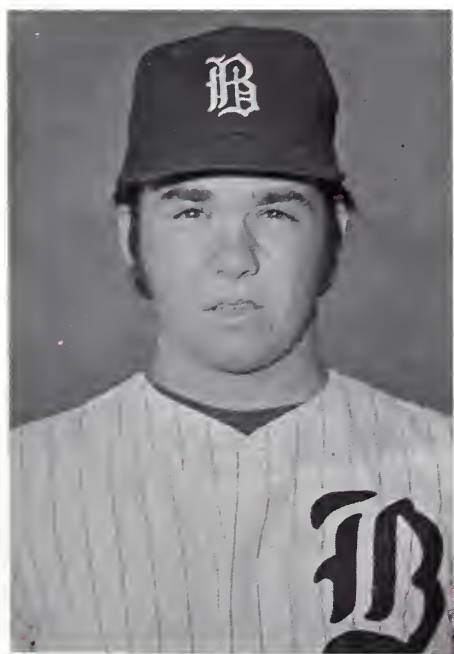

Most of the pitching was handled by first year players, with sophomore Jimmy Dowling being the only returning member of last year's mound corps.

Three seniors spirit team to victory

Back for their senior years were John Connery, with shot-putt and discus; Wayne Bowman, intermediate hurdles; and Clyde Goode in the mile run. Juniors holding school records this year were high hurdler Tom Ryall; tripple jumper Jim Burgess; and John Wimmer in the 440-yard dash.

Newcomers strengthen team potential

A number of record holders were on hand to go with 16 freshmen and give the Bucs one of their largest squads in years.

Mr. Charles Welty, Trainer

Track team meets hard schedule

Although up against a strong schedule that included meets with Florida, Rutgers, East Tennessee, East Carolina, Georgetown, and others, Coach Howard Bagwell and Jim Settle anticipated an outstanding showing and perhaps the school's best team ever.

Buccaneers defend two- year title

In addition to a strong meet schedule, the Bucs this spring participated in a number of relays, and defended their title of the past two years in the State Meet on May 8.

Today learns from past's mistakes

Taking past experience and finding out what went wrong gave students an insight into what they will do in the future to be successful. Courses ranged from state history to civil war and colonial history in our country, while others covered the Renaissance, Asia, and Europe. Through this understanding of history, students found the reasons it took place as it did.

Math explores number operations

Including a broad range of students, the mathematics department offered courses ranging from general math to statistics. These courses studied the origins of numbers, the development of theories, and why, in addition to working with them. Physics classes, which dealt with motion, forces, and electricity, better prepared them for later, more technical careers.

English department handles a wider range of students

To take care of all wanting to attend the Baptist College, the English department expanded the curriculum to admit more students who needed remedial courses and those who were further advanced. A new shift in requirements for the State Teacher Certificate brought the addition of three new courses, including more modern ones. To improve the program, new faculty members were employed to thoroughly cover a broader span of time in literature.

Languages widen span of knowledge

To complete a liberal arts degree, students must take a foreign language that will give them a wider general knowledge. French, Spanish, German, Russian, Greek, Latin, and Portuguese opened new lines of communication and aided in understanding of our own English language. Helpful in the learning of a language was the lab. This system of tapes is set up so that a student might hear the correct pronunciation and then imitate it with the proper inflection. Colonel Sidney Walls instilled pride in the department as he received an academic award presented by Count Max Montalembert, French Consul at Washington, D.C.

Music department moves to girl's dorm

Ever expanding in students and facilities, the music department continued its activities through the band and chorus. For the first time in two years, the concert band made its debut at the dedication of the L. Mendel Rivers Library.

Along with regular duties on campus, the chorus took part in singing at off-campus functions including local churches and in the "Messiah". Their spring tour took them to Southern Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky.

Faculty members exhibited their talents with a joint recital, "An Afternoon of Chamber Music" on November twenty-second.

In addition to piano-violin duets with Mr. Yost, Dr. Ann Howe won extra acclaim for her thesis on Lily Strickland, which was published. The South Carolina Tricentennial Commission had her condense a portion of this book for the celebration.

Exhibits present artistic talents

Along with the regular classes newly located in the girls' dorm, the art department displayed its talents through other outlets. Individuals exhibited their work, including Al Anderson of the Charleston Art Guild. Lettering at the altar of the prayer room, and the display for the Miss Baptist College Contest were accomplishments of art students. The department also aided Mrs. Mixon in selecting the picture to be placed in memory of her son. Seniors featured their work in an exhibit of oils and drawings.

Speech and Drama adds professor

In addition to the regular activities of the speech, the department also includes drama. New to the area is Dr. Vanella, who came to the Baptist College from Harvard University.

New trends in religion courses

Moving with the new innovations, the Baptist College religion majors can go directly into their doctoral program after college without reporting courses. This adjustment saves hours for the students. Along the same line as practice teaching, a new course was added to give students who are training for the ministry some practical experience in a pastorate. The religion department also initiated work on the prayer room, which is open to everyone.

Chemistry explores the composition of matter

Chemistry students furthered their knowledge by learning about the structure and reactions of matter. They discovered the different actions of properties of matter. Organic, inorganic compounds, and chemistry with its relation to the laws of physics and mathematics were just a few of the courses offered.

Greenhouse is newest addition

To help in the courses on plants, the biology department added a greenhouse. This building was divided into many parts. Each section represented a different habitat for plants, so that they might be observed in their natural state. From the study of insects to the anatomy of the human body, biology covered the structure, development, and the processes of animals.

Psychology analyzes the mind and its behavior

These studies of the human mind and behavior showed students some of the reasons we act and react the way we do. Courses investigated the abnormal aspect also, and the causes for the exceptions. This deep and very wide field was covered at the Baptist College with subjects varying from the physiological aspects to the study of children's minds.

Nurses get first-hand experience

Regular trips to Roper Hospital proved that student nurses must learn their classwork. Here they had to take what they were taught and use it on a patient. In the two year nursing program, a student may receive a license for registered nursing upon passing the state examination. Courses in the nursing department varied from the fundamental principles to the study of treating psychiatric patients and administering drugs.

Majors take a practical viewpoint

Students who majored in business at the Baptist College sharpened skills in accounting as well as in marketing and management. Case studies were done in many fields showing that certain principles work and that others will not. By work on major projects, application of concepts appeared. Groups of students took on such projects as the development of a football team, the initial and continuing cost, and the advantages and disadvantages of maintaining one.

P.E. strengthens physical skills

General conditioning and development of team skills gave students an introduction to physical education. Courses in community health, recreation and personal hygiene were available for majors to complete their work. Students of teaching and coaching gained a knowledge of P.E. through the planning and administration of activities for elementary and secondary schools.

Education department makes change

Much progress was made in the Education department as it established a firmer foundation at the Baptist College. Changes in the state teacher certification program caused the department to make adjustments to fit it. This brought about an addition of courses and changes in the number of hours required. Students got training also in the most modern techniques through the class on audio-visuals.

Newly dedicated library in full use

The newly dedicated L. Mendel Rivers library operated in full force at the Baptist College. Rows upon rows of books and up to date periodicals were available for use by any student.

SCORE

SOUTH CAROLINA OFFERS REWARDING EMPLOYMENT FOR 1971 COLLEGE GRADUATES, AND JUNIORS PLANNING AHEAD

TEAR OFF HERE

SCORE is also for South Carolinians attending out-of-state colleges or universities. If you have a friend or relative who should know about SCORE, tear off the mailing form and send it to him or her TODAY.

The South Carolina State Chamber of Commerce has arranged employment interviews during the 1970 Christmas Holidays at NO COST to students. College and university seniors, graduate students, juniors and TEC seniors will have the opportunity to meet with personnel representatives of major industries and businesses operating throughout South Carolina. SCORE will be held:

Wednesday—

December 30

9:00 a. m. — 4:30 p. m.

Private interviews will be scheduled at half-hour intervals in the Sheraton-Columbia Inn. To assist in arranging interview schedules, and to obtain a list and resumes of participating companies, please tear off, complete and mail the form below. Mail it TODAY to the South Carolina State Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box. 11070, Columbia, South Carolina 29211.

"Elected to Congress fifteen times, today he stands among the tallest of the men in America and the world. He is the American, who, in the name of Congress and with the authority of the Constitution, raises armies and launches navies. With every fiber of his being, and with every means at his disposal, he unceasingly defends, guards, and directs the freedoms of this Country, with never a thought of his own personal sacrifice. He is keenly aware that it is the freedom of a Man's mind that keeps him free."

In 1971, the Cutlass took trends never followed before. Carrying out a theme, a very important aspect of yearbook production, was the most important. The theme carried out through the pictures and copy, was designed to make each student think about his school and what it means to him. More body copy, another important requirement, was put in so that you might read and know what the pictures are.

Paper in four different colors was also used. Although you may not agree with the choice of the colored paper, it has its purpose. Like the moods of an individual, so has the Cutlass changed moods at times during the year. The colors reflected you and your school changing.

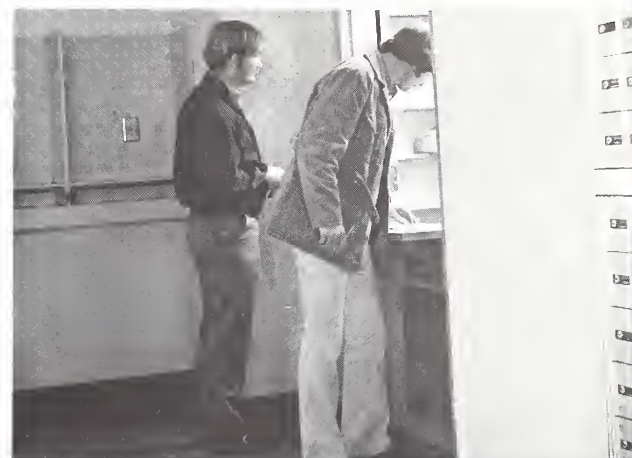

Thanks to the many people who contributed their time to identify a picture, to collect a list of names, and to those who took the even bigger jobs.

Wondering

What your day will be like two weeks from now
if you've made the right decisions

How many pairs of shoes
you have worn out

How you ever made it

What everyone else is going to do

How far you are from the top

If you have really changed

any at all . . . . . WHAT NOW???

Feeling

The loneliness
of an empty room
The excitement
of the impending occasion
Not wanting to go back home
How different you are The joy of winning—the pain of losing The force that holds us all together . . .

..... WHAT NOW??

Wanting

always to be a Buccaneer ..... WHAT NOW???
